A Northstead Christmas Poem

At Northstead School, in winter's glow,
The Christmas spirit begins to show.
With Children laughing full of cheer,
It's the merriest time of year!

The classrooms twinkle, lights aglow,
Snowflakes crafted in a paper show.
Teachers smiling, festive and bright,
Guiding young minds with all their might.

Carols echo through the hall,
Voices rise, both big and small.
"Silent Night" and "Jingle Bells,"
A joyful story the music tells.

The playground's filled with frosty air,
Scarves and mittens everywhere.
Snowball fights and frosty fun,
Underneath the winter sun.

In assemblies, they pause to say,
"Let's think of others this holiday."
Kindness, giving, spreading cheer,
The values they hold all through the year.

The staff come together, a jolly crew,
With Secret Santas and mince pies too.
Laughter rings through their festive feast,
A shared warmth that never ceased.

So here's to Northstead, shining bright,
A beacon of joy in the cold winter night.
Merry Christmas to one and all,
From our loving community, big and small!
